George C. Pardee, pleading with Abe Ruef at the Sea Beach Hotel, Santa Cruz, during the meeting of the Republican State Convention, September, 1906. This was after Pardee's famous interview with William F. 10,000 ARE LOST IN FLOOD

SEATTLE, May 13.—News of one of the greatest disasters that China has ever known, a sudden tidal bore in the Yangtze Kiang, which involved the loss of nearly 10,000 lives at Hankow, etc., was brought by the steamer Titan, which arrived last night.

A bore twenty-six feet in height flooded without warning down the river overwhelming thousands of junks, sampans and small boats, and wrecking some large river steamers.

Some 8000 Chinese were sleeping in sampans and small craft, and mattresses and huts by the riverside at Hankow and they were enveloped by the great wave, which swept broken junks, splintered sampans and an heterogeneous mass of debris, with swarms of drowned Chinese mixed with the wreckage. The scenes for many days after the disaster were horrible, the river side being strewn with dead and debris of wrecked craft for many miles.

NAVY CHIEF PLEASED

Secretary of the Navy Metcalf left for Washington this morning. He announced that he would return to California next July.

"We are gratified beyond expression by the spontaneous and enthusiastic reception given to the combined fleets by the people of this community," said Secretary Metcalf. "Most particularly are we all pleased on account of the way in which the enlisted men of the fleet were welcomed. They were treated like men. There was no discrimination against them anywhere and it was shown that the uniform of the United States Navy means something, and entitles the wearer to the respect of everybody.

It Means Much.

"All this means much for the Navy. It helps the service when the men are accorded the respectful recognition to which they are entitled, and which they were given here. Incidentally this cordial welcome will prove no detriment to California, for the Navy from now on will be filled with friends for this great State. The officers and men are very appreciative of such attentions and the general that I have but recently returned from a two months' trip in the East and am far behind in the work of my office; and third, that East and a far behind in the work of my office; and third, that presence.

REASONS FOR NOT GOING

"I have been importuned from all parts of the State to go as delegate at large to Chicago and while I thank my friends for desiring to vote for me, it will be impossible for me to go. I but recently was in the East and upon my return was ill for several weeks, followed by my participation in the fleet festivities on the coast.

ADVICE OF PHYSICIAN

"My physician advises me that I will not be fully recovered for at least six weeks yet and to go East in my present condition might be too much of a strain for me. Then, too, I want to be in excellent condition for the campaign this fall when I expect to campaign the State. Aside from this, my work is many weeks behind and there are about $2,000,000 worth of State buildings under way which demand my attention."

SATISFIED WITH MELVIN

Asked whether he favored the election of Superior Judge H. A. Melvin of Oakland in his place as delegate at large, Governor Gillett said that he was friendly to Judge Melvin but would be satisfied with any good man selected by the convention.

The advance guard of the delegates to the State convention arrived last night and a large number came on the noon train. The Los Angeles and San Francisco delegations are expected this evening and it is believed that the majority of the 629 delegates will be in the city by midnight.

THE CONVENTION

The convention will be held in a large tent which has been put up in the Agricultural pavilion at the east end of the capitol grounds. The delegates will occupy practically the entire tent and but little provision has been made for spectators.

MELVIN WILL BE ELECTED

An amicable adjustment of the incipient conflict between Governor Gillett and Judge Henry A. Melvin in regard to who shall be elected delegate at large to the Republican National Convention has been made and all is now serene and harmonious in the organization ranks.

Will Show Enemies.

Governor Gillett cares nothing about going as a delegate, but as wanton attacks have been made on him he desires to show his enemies that he can be elected. Judge Melvin's friends appreciate his position and sympathize with the governor's feelings in the matter.

The Agreement.

Hence it was easy to come to an agreement entirely satisfactory to all concerned.

Governor Gillett will be nominated in the convention but will withdraw in favor of Judge Melvin, stating his reasons for permitting his name to go before the convention and the considerations which require his presence in the State.

Melvin to be Elected.

Judge Melvin will then be elected a delegate at large and

$180,000 TO BETTER COLLEGE GROUNDS

Regents See Final Plans for Enlarging and Beautifying State Institution.

At the meeting of the regents of the University of California yesterday at the rooms of the San Francisco Art Association the final plans for the enlarging and beautifying of the University were presented. The plans contemplate an expenditure of $180,000.

At the meeting the question was brought up whether it was imperative for the students to be vaccinated and whether the regents have the power to enforce the rule. It was decided that the body had under State law power to maintain the sanitary conditions of the University and that if the Berkeley School Board wished the step taken the regents would enforce the law. The matter was laid over until the next meeting, when resolutions will be adopted.

A delegation of representative Danish citizens waited on the board today with a request that a Danish chair be established at the University. The delegation promised that if the chair were decided upon the Danish residents of California would endow it with the sum of $2000 for the period of five years, the University to support it after that time. This delegation was composed of C. B. H. Kjerfve, James Madison, J. C. Scott, H. C. Herant, Jacob Peterson, Carl Flow, J. Molgard and L. H. Kjerfve. The power to accept the gift was given to the regents that there were 20,000 natives of Denmark living in California.

President Wheeler Reports.

President Wheeler in his report recommended as follows: That Earle Garfield Lindsay be appointed instructor in geography, salary $900.

That Miss Bessy Sprague be appointed librarian and clerk of the architectural department, salary $700.

That Arthur C. Alvarez be appointed instructor in civil engineering at $900 per annum.

That Paul Boehmcke be appointed assistant in German for the next year at a salary of $500 per annum.

That J. H. Laughlin, B. A. (Princeton), be appointed instructor in Chinese, salary $1,000 during the year's leave of absence of Professor John Fryer.

That Dr. Philip Rahtjen, Belvedere, be appointed instructor in bacteriology for the year 1908-09 without salary.

That the resignation of Michael Ongerth as assistant in German be accepted.

President Wheeler reported the gift of one four-horsepower gasoline engine for use in cereal investigations at the University Farm, from Fairbanks, Morse & Co.

The receipt was reported of the following anonymous letter, containing $70, by the secretary of the Board of Regents: "I wish you would turn this money over to the proper authorities to be used as may be deemed fit in connection with the Student Infirmary, and for the honor of the class of 1901."

A gift of $500 to the University Hospital fund from Dr. D. W. Montgomery of the medical faculty was acknowledged.

MARY SHAW FEELS KEENLY DESERTION BY MANAGER

Actress Eludes All Callers and Departs for City of Chicago

Mary Shaw, the distinguished actress, whose engagement at the Macdonough came to a close last Sunday night and who, at the same time made the discovery that her manager had departed and left the company without its pay for the last two weeks, last night left the Hotel St. Mark, where she has been staying since the unexpected ending of her tour, for Chicago, feeling aggrieved by the manner in which she had been treated by the man who had charge of her theatrical career and the humiliation of having been abandoned on the road as if she had been a mere tyro in the profession in which she is a shining light.

In Concealment. The star remained in doors throughout the day, denying herself to all callers, and in the rotunda of the hotel the story was told that she was prostrated as a consequence of the humiliation to which she had been subjected.

Repeated calls to her apartments were made by means of the telephone of the St. Mark by personal friends and newspaper men for interviews, but a very energetic maid received all the messages and when the people at the other end of the wire became insistent in the matter of having a meeting with the star informed them positively that the actress was "not at home." Of course this statement was made with the special meaning which is given to that word in police society, because it was well known that the star was in her apartments but did not desire to see or talk to anybody.

The Star Appears.

About 6 o'clock in the evening, however, when it was supposed that all the inquiries for the lady had taken their departure, Miss Shaw made her appearance in the rotunda dressed for the street. She was met by a representative of THE TRIBUNE, who had arrived on the scene only a few moments before she emerged from the elevator of the hostelry.

The actress was informed that this paper was disposed to publish any statement that she felt inclined to make, but she felt that she was not in a position to do so, as she felt that there had been too much publicity already given to an episode which she thought did not concern the public.

Actress Talks.

"I really have nothing to say in this matter at the present time. I feel that there has been too much said already. I feel somewhat humiliated because of what has taken place and matters cannot be changed by anything I may have to say."

"I want to say, however, that I was not under contract to the man who acted as manager and who disappeared with the money which was intended for the company. I was under engagement with a firm whose name I will not mention. I will deal in the matter."

Doing Good Business.

"Not the season of the company did not because we were doing good business. The contrary is the case. We have been doing good business right along and there was no reason why there should not be a continuance of it. We were greatly appreciated in San Francisco and there were places along the route where we were sure that we would be warmly welcomed."

"Beyond that, I do not desire to say anything. I will not say anything even for the Associated Press, although I know that the knowledge of this affair has long been in New York. While I have no desire to say anything about my affairs, I am sorry to see that some members of the company are not of the same way of thinking."

Leading Lady Makes Exit.

The manager to whom Mary Shaw referred as having disappeared is W. V. Connor, and members of the company say that, in his hasty flight he was accompanied by Miss Shaw, who was the second lady in the cast in the several pieces produced by Miss Shaw.

In the play "Mrs. Warren's Profession" Miss Shaw found favor with the audiences at the Macdonough. She looked the part of the daughter of the stellar role impersonated by Miss Shaw, who had discovered what was the profession of her mother and who chose to lead an honest and virtuous life, even though in doing so she had to set aside all feelings of filial love and duty.

Members of the company who were left here by the abandoning manager, say that when they got to New York they will make it warm with the people who sent them out on the road with the thrifty Connor. They are waiting assistance from the East, and some of the women fill short engagements in theaters in the southern part of the State.

START CARRYING GARBAGE TO SEA

West Oakland "Dumps" Will be Condemned in the Near Future.

Captain Henning reported to the Board of Works this morning that work had been started on the carrying of the city's garbage to sea. Twelve loads of garbage have already been placed aboard the Signal.

For the first few days all garbage will not be taken to the Broadway wharf and only certain sections will have their garbage disposed of in this manner. As fast as arrangements can be completed, however, all the refuse will be transferred to the wharf. When this is done the Board of Health will condemn the dumps in West Oakland and the entire place cleaned up. The scavengers have been notified not to carry the garbage to the wharf by way of Broadway.

ATLANTIC FLEET SAILS ON ORPHEUM STAGE

With its usual enterprise the Orpheum Circuit has planned to exhibit at the Oakland Orpheum at once its own motion pictures taken last week showing the arrival of the Atlantic fleet on this coast. President Meyerfeld, Jr., notified the local management today that the motion pictures which are being shown at the Orpheum are of the fleet depicting the arrival of the fighting ships of the Atlantic fleet on this coast. The pictures will be seen at every performance during the coming week. They have created immense enthusiasm in San Francisco, being rated as one of the most powerful cards on the vaudeville bill at the Orpheum on Ellis street.

une hospitality they have experienced here has touched their hearts in a warm spot.

Not Disappointed. Secretary Metcalf was asked if it was usual for society ladies to entertain the bluejackets with a grand ball such as was given in San Francisco.

Proud of Women. "I can't say that I remember that it was ever done before, though it might have been. But it's the right thing, just the same, and I was proud of the women of my State to see this extension of hospitality."

Saying Good-bye. Secretary Metcalf boarded the train at the Sixteenth street station, where a number of friends had gathered to bid him farewell. Among those at the depot were George W. Reed, Paul Schaffer, Victor H. Metcalf, W. W. Robeson, Victor N. Metcalf, Lieutenant W. H. Metcalf, Lieutenant Cyrus Miller, George D. Metcalf, Leon Clark, George Schmidt and Eugene Warren. Among the ladies who were present to say good-bye were Mrs. Metcalf, Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. Henry A. Butters and Mrs. J. H. Nicholson.

No Special Car.

Secretary Metcalf went East by the regular train. "I never travel in a private car," he said. "I travel as a Democratic American. I spent yesterday at San Francisco in conference with Admiral Thomas and Sperry and completed my business with them and am now ready to go back to Washington."

Former Supervisor Coleman Testifies in the Ruef Trial

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—A somewhat startling declaration and one which Detective William J. Burns start from his chair, Francis J. Heney, star of the Ruff Parkside case this morning, when he said that he did not fear Heney, and that he was not a bit afraid of being indicted.

Calmly and coolly he told Attorney Ach, who was questioning him, that he had never asked any one for money and that all he received had been given to him. When Heney took the witness in hand for redirect examination the prosecutor's temper arose and he went after his man in an effort to counteract the effect that had been made on the jury by the statements of Coleman.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Supervisor Daniel G. Coleman, the fourth member of the boodling board to testify in the Ruef Parkside case, occupied the witness chair in Judge Dooling's court when proceedings began today. Coleman is the least nervous of the prosecution's witnesses who have testified thus far, and he appeared to weigh carefully each answer to the numerous questions propounded by Attorney Ach on cross-examination.

He seemed to resent some of the queries put to him, and very reluctantly stated the facts of his employment with the Pope & Talbot Lumber Company before he became a supervisor. Most of the time, however, he smiled contentedly and benignly upon the defendant's chief counsel and gave the appearance of a man who told his story because he wanted to, not because he had to.

The witness testified that he knew Ruef only through his relations with him as supervisor and had never any private relations with him.

Luncheon at Casino.

He told of the luncheon at the Casino, and the tour through the Parkside property by the supervisors in automobiles. Coleman said that he understood from the time of the luncheon that there would, or should, be something in the Parkside deal for the board, and that they talked about the money they were to receive frequently.

He stated that the matter had been frequently discussed at the committee meetings because the money had not been forthcoming and to admit of Gallagher's making a report about it. In response to questions, Coleman admitted that almost every time before he testified at so-called graft trials he had been called to the district attorney's office to be interrogated as to his testimony.

His Memory Refreshed.

He said that a copy of his testimony before the grand jury was read to him on these occasions, and his memory was refreshed. He testified in regard to the immunity contract that it had been understood at the final caucus of the supervisors that they were to have immunity, and it was with this understanding that he went to the Gladstone apartments and told all he knew. Ach then went into the election of Dr. Borton as mayor, the resignation of the board and the selection of Mayor Taylor, after which he asked:

"You knew that Supervisors Wilson and Coffey were indicted by the grand jury, did you not?" "I understood so."

"You know, do you not, that you are entirely at the mercy of the district attorney and that he can indict you at any time?"

ABRUZZI SEES KING REGARDING MARRIAGE

ROME, May 13.—The Duke of the Abruzzi arrived here today from Naples. He went at once to the Quirinal and had a long conference with King Victor Emmanuel, regarding his marriage to Miss Katharine Elkins, daughter of Senator Elkins of West Virginia. The Duke later had luncheon with the king and queen. He will leave Rome tonight for Spezia.

time?" "I am relying entirely on the honor of the district attorney. My contract is signed by William H. Langdon, assistant district attorney, and Francis J. Heney, assistant district attorney."

Immunity Contract Again. "You know that the district attorney is the sole judge of whether you tell the truth, don't you?" "Yes, sir; that's entirely up to him."

Coleman then stated that he understood that the immunity contract was the result of a conference held between Rudolf Spreckels and James Gallagher at the Presidio, when the former had made all the promises in the name of the district attorney.

At this time the witness was turned over again to Heney, who interrogated him at length about the various meetings held by the board when the Parkside and other matters came up. Coleman maintained that he had never asked for any money from anyone, but that all he received had been promised and paid him by Gallagher. All of the questions propounded were objected to by Attorney Ach, and in nearly every instance the objection was overruled by the court.

Heney had not finished with the redirect examination of Coleman when the noon recess was taken.

Chamber of Commerce Endorses Committee's Demand for $120,000 Harbor Improvements.

The directors of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce yesterday endorsed by unanimous vote a resolution of the Oakland harbor committee urging upon the government that the unexpended appropriation for harbor improvement at Oakland, amounting to approximately $120,000, be used in deepening and widening the channel from Chestnut to Fallon streets.

It is planned to widen the channel to a uniform width of 500 feet and a minimum depth of twenty-five feet, beginning from a point at the north pierhead line.

The matter was taken up a few days ago at a conference held in San Francisco between the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and Lieutenant Colonel John Biddle of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., and as a result it is expected that the army and navy will make a favorable report to Washington on the project.

ADDITIONAL MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 13.—A strong tone permeated the stock market at the outset today which was due largely to a continuation of the recent demand for the metal stocks. The other stocks also figured extensively in the rise, especially Reading, St. Paul and Union Pacific. Canadian Pacific advanced 1/4, Rock Island preferred 1/4, amalgamated Copper 1/4, and Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, American Smelting and Colorado Fuel and Iron 1/4.

The announcement of large gold exports had a momentary depressive effect on the buying, but prices did not recede much and soon went higher than ever. The market showed the usual characteristics resulting from the heavy demand for industrial stocks. Some of the low priced specialties were in active demand. Northern Pacific gained 3/4, Southern Pacific preferred jumped 3/4 on a rumor that the privilege of retirement at 1/2 was to be waived by the company. The Harriman stocks rose strongly with an indication from the board of the system that unchanged dividends would be declared. Great Northern preferred rose 1/4, Union Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio 1/4, Northwestern 1/4, and a number of others a point or more. Profit taking sales made an irregular but general net.

Slight reactions produced dullness in the market and there was an abandonment of the higher prices. Southern Pacific preferred reacted 3/4 and St. Paul 1/4. A little response from the rest of the list, the market being sluggish, though strong. Reading was up 1/4, Colorado Fuel 1/4, Iron 2, and Northwestern preferred 1/4.

ORDER OF FORESTERS IN THE ANNUAL CONVENTION

O. M. GOLDARACENA, HIGH CHIEF RANGER, A. O. F. GEORGE W. LUNT, GRAND TREASURER, A. O. F.

Important Questions Are Being Discussed

The Ancient Order of Foresters, in convention at Reed Hall, have been considering many questions which are of great interest to the order.

Several amendments have been added to the constitution, principal among them being the removal of the ban forbidding members of the Ancient Order of Foresters to join the Foresters of America.

Medical Examinations.
Several important changes have been made regarding the medical examinations and medical examiners.

At this morning's gathering the different committees read reports which were discussed by the order.

This afternoon the delegates and officers took a trolley ride to Piedmont, Berkeley and then to Idora Park, where they had supper and attended the theatricals. Thursday the high court will elect officers and transact important business.

High Court.

The next high court will probably be held in San Francisco in 1910, as that city is the only city which has asked for the conclave and most of the members are anxious to have it there.

FRESHMAN ELOPES WITH PRETTY BERKELEY GIRL

Lovely Bride Does Not Like the Gossip

BERKELEY, May 13.—Pretty Dorothy Erwin and Linville Lee Hotchkiss, a freshman at the State University, slipped quietly away to San Rafael Monday afternoon last and were man and wife. It was an elopement following a love match that began five years ago when both the young folks were entering their teens and because they did not take their parents into their confidence all sorts of "horrid things" have happened, to quote the language of the girl-bride.

Honeymoon One Day.

To begin with, after a honeymoon of just one day the boy husband has gone to Kings River canyon, ostensibly for a vacation, but rumor names it an exile as punishment for his temerity in marrying without the consent of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hotchkiss of 2933 Claremont avenue. The Hotchkiss family, one and all, is silent. They even refuse to discuss the elopement at all. And Dorothy, the wife, in with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Erwin at Telegraph and Parker, and she is so "very sorry that matters are mixed up in this dreadful fashion."

Families Prominent.

Both the families are prominent in Berkeley society. The Hotchkisses have one of the most beautiful homes in Claremont. J. W. Erwin is connected with the Southern Pacific Railway. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Stevens of the San Rafael Congregational Church.

A letter from the city council was received this morning by the board of works asking that the plans for the improvement of the water front be forwarded to them as soon as possible. Secretary Pawcett was instructed to advise the council that the board is working on the plans and will forward them at the earliest possible date.

At the meeting a communication was received from the Chamber of Commerce, in which it was stated that that body had passed resolutions favoring the dredging of the harbor from Fallon to Chestnut streets. The communication was placed on file for further action.

It was also announced at the meeting this morning that the annual police inspection will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SEEKING LONG LOST MOTHER AND BROTHER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—A pathetic appeal for aid in locating a lost mother and brother was received this morning by the police from Miss Myrtle Davis of 805 Sixth avenue, Seattle, Wash. Miss Davis, who is twenty years old, lost her relatives in this city in 1901 while on a visit. Her mother had been working as a canvasser, and she believes that the brother, who had completely dropped out of sight, and anyone who knows of their whereabouts is asked to communicate with the chief of police.

Chamber of Commerce Working Hard to Secure Passage of Bonds.

BERKELEY, May 13.—The campaign committee of the Chamber of Commerce is hard at work perfecting plans to aid the school bonds. On Friday evening a large mass meeting will be held at the rooms of the organization on Center street to which every citizen of Berkeley is invited and requested to come.

The speakers will include some of the most prominent men of Berkeley. The following letter in part was forwarded from the Chamber of Commerce to the presidents and secretaries of the various improvement clubs this morning:

Should be Passed.
There is not one possible objection to the passage of $250,000 worth of bonds for school purposes. The money is not asked for luxuries or extravagant innovations, but for staring necessities, in order that our children may receive the same public instruction and education accorded every other part of the United States. The movement to defeat the bonds is purely one of politics, aided by that element which is childish or grasping.

On Friday evening, May 15th, a large mass meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to discuss the proposed issues and, if possible, to pledge a staunch support of the bonds. We especially urge and request that the president and secretary of each improvement club in Berkeley be present at the meeting and lend his voice in support of the bonds. The matter is of vital importance to the city and to your citizenship. Do not fail to be present.

DUCHESS OF MANCHESTER TO STUMP FOR SOCIALIST

ENGLAND TO STUMP OHIO FOR SOCIALIST CANDIDATE TO CONGRESS.

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio, May 13.—On the heels of the stir aroused in the district by his announcement that the Countess of Warwick would cross the sea from England to aid him on the stump in the fall's campaign, C. E. Wharton of Kenton, socialist candidate for Congress in the Eighth Ohio district, yesterday announced the receipt of a letter from the Duchess of Manchester, daughter of Eugene Zimmerman, the millionaire railroad man of Cincinnati, to the effect that she, too, would stump the district for him.

The Duchess has taken up English socialism as a fad and become interested in the eighth district situation by the Countess of Warwick.

MELROSE TO HAVE NEW SCHOOLHOUSE

Citizens at Mass Meeting Vote to Bond the School District.

MELROSE, May 13.—The residents of upper Melrose at a mass meeting held last night at the hall of the local improvement club voted unanimously in favor of erecting a school house in upper Melrose, a well populated and growing district which is at present without school facilities.

Several of the school directors for the Melrose district were present, and said that while the board had decided to either enlarge the school building in lower Melrose or erect a new one, they would leave the choice with the residents. The directors pointed out that some action was necessary, the lower Melrose school being already overcrowded, two classes being held in the basement, and that the Alameda and other schools were no better off. A recent census of the district showed that there were some 200 children of school age for whom no accommodation could be found.

After discussing the subject, the meeting voted in favor of a new school house, to be erected in upper Melrose, and preferably on a site in the Talbot tract, which met the requirements and could be purchased for a reasonable sum. The meeting also voted in favor of bonding the district, rather than levying a special tax.

BIGGEST COFFEE POT HOLDS 45,000 GALLONS

Passengers entering San Francisco a few evenings ago were surprised to see the enormous coffee pot which was recently erected for M. J. Brandenstein & Co. Standing as it appears, in the clouds, it is undoubtedly the most attractive advertising sign on the Pacific Coast.

A THELONIAN correspondent while crossing the ferry carried a conversation between two San Francisco business men regarding the value of this method of advertising. The gentleman became so interested in the discussion as to the amount of coffee the pot would hold that they took the trouble to learn the dimensions of the pot, and found that a pot of that size would hold 45,000 gallons of coffee. Discussions of this kind speak favorably for unique, clever, out-door advertising. These gentlemen were business men who were familiar with modes and methods of advertising in all parts of the United States, and they were so interested in this particular display that they took it upon themselves to enter into an investigation which will make the impression so lasting that they will always be familiar with the trade name, "M. J. B. Coffee."

ATTRACTIONS AT THE MACDONOUGH

The season at the Macdonough theater will have no more welcome attractions than Lew Dockstader and his famous minstrels, commencing tomorrow night and running through Saturday night including a matinee Saturday.

There is no "star" in the country more distinctive in personality than Dockstader. He is a comedian of exceptional originality and artistic method, and is in a class by himself in his special field of minstrelsy. He is a fun maker par excellence always providing something new, and delivering it with an unctuous that is as rare as it is delightful. He has a new skit this year called "A Dull Day in the White House," that is brimful of humorous allusions to topics now uppermost in the public mind. His "make-up" is one of the most artistic caricatures of his career.

FRANCIS WILSON. Francis Wilson in "When Knights Were Bold" was the attraction at the Macdonough Theater last night. There was a large attendance and a great performance was given. The play will be repeated this evening.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The report of the conference committee on the naval bill was adopted by the House yesterday. It contains a provision for a collier to be built at the Mare Island navy yard at a cost of $1,800,000, which amount will be distributed among California workmen. Senator Perkins and Congressman Knowland have been working on this matter several weeks. They have done a splendid service for the State and both of them deserve a great deal of credit.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.) SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The trial of Louis Glass, which was set for today, in Judge Lawlor's court, was continued for two weeks on motion of the prosecution, it being shown that the defendant was ill in bed. He was appointed to take the matter up with the City Council and see if an appropriation can be set aside for this purpose. D. C. J. DALZELL BROWN TO URGE BONDS AT BIG MEETING

BEGINS TERM IN PRISON

James Treadwell Indicted by Grand Jury on Charge of Perjury.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The indictment of James Treadwell of the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company on a charge of perjury and the order for the incarceration of J. Dalzell Brown in San Quentin were developments which came suddenly yesterday from the grand jury and the district attorney's office. The district attorney ordered that Brown be taken to San Quentin today and he left this morning at 8:30 to begin his eighteen months' term. The indictment of Treadwell comes from his testimony on January 28th when he swore before the grand jury that he had never sold or hypothecated any of the Colton securities. Brown was on the stand yesterday and he told a different story. He testified that the Colton securities were received from Barnett, then in New York, June 5, 1905. Two days after that, according to Brown, Treadwell negotiated a loan of $50,000 with the Italian-American Bank, offering a parcel of the Colton bonds as security.

Confirms Brown's Story. M. A. Murphy, president of the Carnegie brick and pottery company, a Treadwell concern in which the California safe deposit was heavily interested, signed the note.

Murphy was a witness before the grand jury yesterday and confirmed Brown's story. A. C. Sharboro, cashier of the Italian-American bank, also testified to the dealings with Treadwell and Murphy. Five days later, June 12, Treadwell, with the aid of B. M. Gunn, negotiated a loan with the San Francisco national bank for $35,000, offering Colton securities to protect the bank, and signing the note himself. This latter transaction is the only one mentioned in the indictment, as it was the one in which Treadwell's signature to the note is available. C. K. McIntosh, vice-president of the San Francisco National Bank, was a witness in that matter.

The indictment against Treadwell was returned before Presiding Judge Sturtevant about 4:30 o'clock.

Cipher Message. Assistant District Attorney Cook yesterday made public some further translated cipher correspondence among the bank folk. It is a telegram written by Mrs. Barnett under the code name of "Atlas" to Barnett when he was in New York shortly before the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company went to smash. Brown translated the telegram for the district attorney's office. It reads: No. 155—Western Union Telegraph Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25, 1907. W. J. Barnett, Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City. The Power wants Walker to write to L. W. Hellman Sr. of New York's disappointment at lack of banking harmony to San Francisco. The Power says L. W. Hellman Sr. has used up large money, purpose of intending to cause great panic in San Francisco by holding for high rate of interest and crippling builders. Barnett should assist in this letter, but not be known in this letter. Power thinks that Walker would have influence with L. W. Hellman Sr. Payton intends withdrawing dividends for several months. Payton matters going badly. Acid and copper the cause. Love always.

ATLAS (Mrs. W. J. Barnett).

Chamber of Commerce Working Hard to Secure Passage of Bonds.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Merchants' Exchange held last night, a report was presented by the banking committee asking that the Exchange endorse the Vreeland financial bill, which is now before Congress. After a great deal of discussion, it was finally decided to lay the matter over so that plea for a greater navy on the Pacific the committee might go deeper into the matter.

In the meantime the secretary will wire to Washington for a copy of the bill. The copy will be here in time for the next meeting of the Exchange. A letter was received from the California Promotion Committee asking that the Merchants' Exchange urge the improvement of the facilities for docking and repairing war vessels on the Pacific Coast. In the letter it was stated that it was the belief of the committee that it had made a profound impression with the administration.

Asked to Send Delegate.

The directors also received a communication from the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, inviting the Exchange to send a delegate. Among those who are to deliver addresses is Dr. Benjamin J. Wheeler. City Clerk Thompson asked that a committee of five be appointed by the Exchange to advise the ordinance and judiciary committee of the City Council in regard to the proposed cellar door ordinance. The question of the practicability of such a measure brought forth quite a little discussion, but it was decided to send an unopposed delegation. Those appointed were Wilbur Walder, R. Robinson, A. H. Schleuter, F. Sinclair and C. H. P. Cuntell.

Seek Appropriation.

Director Robinson brought up a proposition at the meeting last night which hitherto has been little thought of, but which the Exchange decided to act on immediately. This proposition was the location of public conveniences about the city. A committee consisting of R. Robinson, E. A. Young and C. H. P. Cuntell.

Put the Sartinol in a pint of hot water (not boiling), add water being preferable. When it is dissolved and cooled, strain through a fine cloth, add the Rose Water and Spirits of Cologne. Apply immediately after washing and to only a portion of the skin at a time, using the bare hands. Never use a cloth or cream need be used. This should be done twice a day or oftener, and no other lotion, powder or cream need be used. If adhered to persistently it is said to produce wonders even on the worst complexion or roughest skin. Work of the Congressional Convention.

The Third Congressional district convention held yesterday did its work and did it well and patriotically. The discordant element organized to disrupt the party for the gratification of well known selfish personal ambitions failed in its purpose.

The convention was called for one purpose—the selection of congressional district delegates to the national convention to be held at Chicago to frame a national Republican platform and the naming of the party's candidates for President and Vice-President—carried out that purpose in a perfectly satisfactory manner. It chose men who are strictly in accord with the principles of the Republican party and who have never been recreant to them. The district delegates go to the national convention pledged to support Taft, the logical party candidate for the high office of President, to succeed Roosevelt, the continuance of whose policies through his nomination and subsequent election will be assured.

But the convention went further, for in its platform it endorsed the re-election of Senator George C. Perkins and Congressman J. R. Knowland, whose loyalty to the party has been unwavering and whose fidelity to the best interests of the State and this Congressional district have been steadfast and unremitting. During his long term in the United States Senate, no man who ever occupied a seat in that body to represent California ever gave more unselfish service to the State or was more devoted to its interests or more attentive to his duties.

The same may be said of Congressman Joseph R. Knowland. From the time that he took his seat in the House he has been, as the resolution adopted by the convention truthfully states, "a sincere, capable and trusted representative in Congress," and it goes without saying that when he is returned to serve another term, as he surely will be, he will perform his duties with the same fidelity and earnestness of purpose in the future as he has in the past.

The convention paid, moreover, a graceful compliment to the Secretary of the Navy, Victor H. Metcalf, and to United States Senator Frank P. Flint, who has served the State well, by adopting an unqualified endorsement of their public services for the good of the State and the nation. Not only the State but the nation at large is indebted in a superlative degree to the former for the prominent part he took in enhancing the prestige of the United States in the eyes of all of the civilized world and bringing the Pacific Coast, and California in particular, through the visit of the Atlantic battleship fleet to these shores. The resolutions adopted truly says that this event "has served more than anything else in many years to stimulate the patriotism of our people and their love for the flag and all that it represents." Nor has anything in years so stiffened the national pride of the entire country in its power as the great naval display which he was so largely instrumental in producing in the interest of the preservation of the world's peace, a fact which is now being internationally recognized.

Illumination of Lower Broadway.

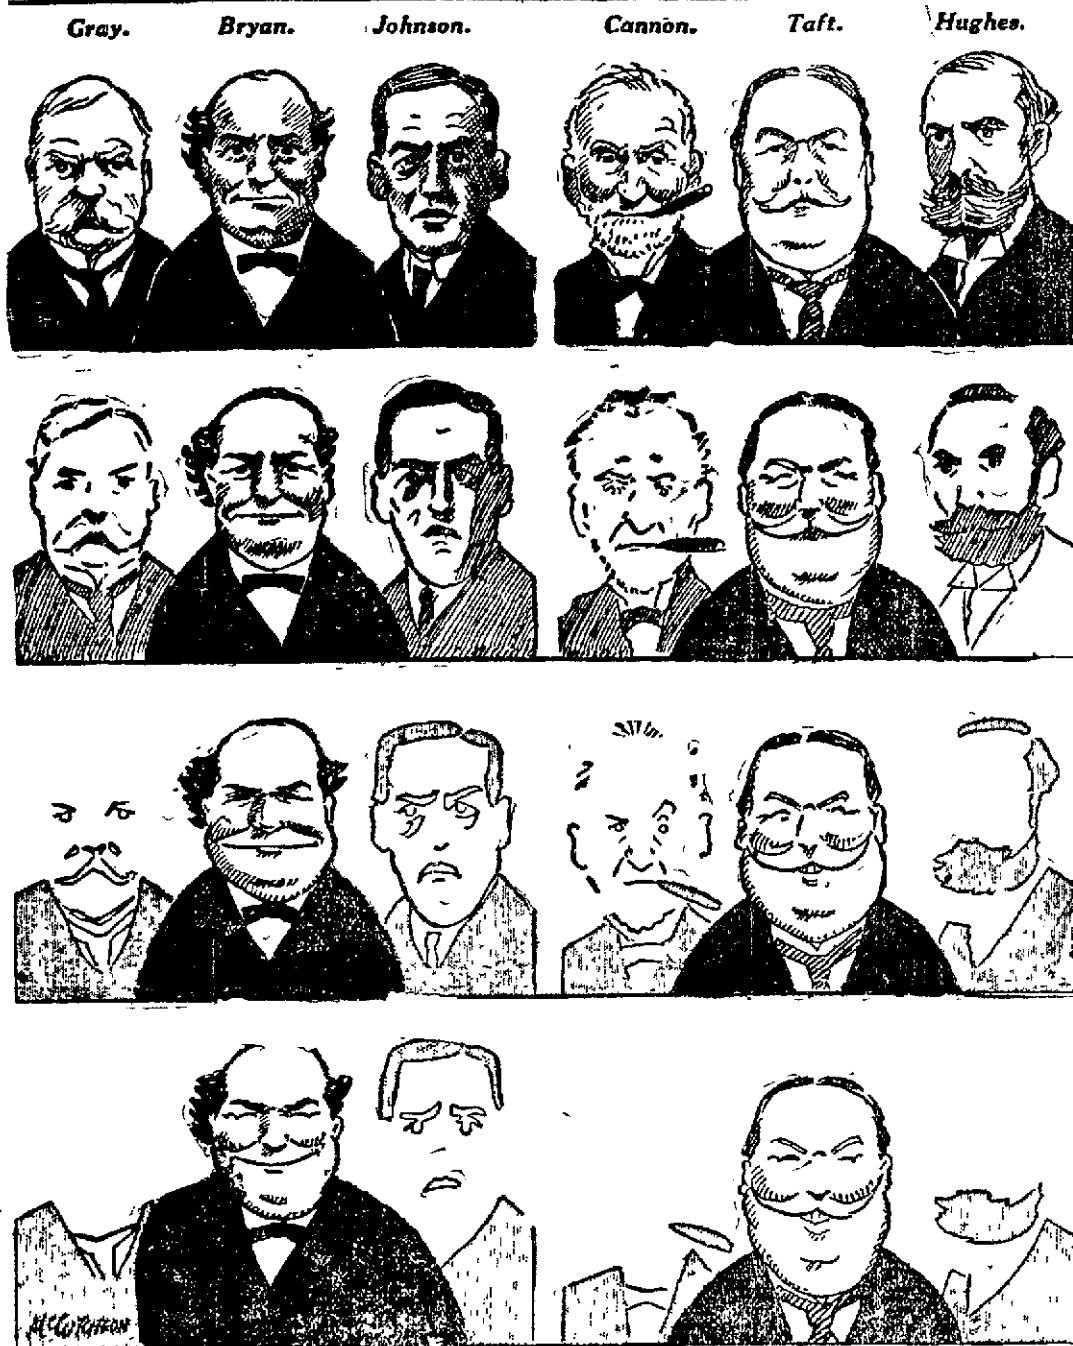

No public improvement has been made in recent times in Oakland which is worthier of higher commendation than that of the electroliter illumination of lower Broadway to correspond with the remainder of that thoroughfare in the business section of the city. The result which has been secured through it is strictly in accord with what THE TRIBUNE forecast many months ago when it advocated the improvement. It has changed the whole character of that part of the main artery of the city. In visual effect it has lengthened the street, as viewed after nightfall, nearly half a mile. It has destroyed, in a large measure, the artificial dead line which has been so long a grievance to the south side. Moreover, it has adapted the lower section of the street for a far better and more profitable class of business than that to which it has been hitherto devoted. This means a material advance in the values of property below the old-time dead-line, a result which marks the progress Oakland is making and will inure to the benefit of the city at large, for it has abolished one of the features of provincialism which Oakland had not outgrown. The lighting of lower Broadway will undoubtedly result in the same change in its condition that lighting of lower Market street, San Francisco, to conform with the rest of that thoroughfare, has done for it, adapting for the same business purposes as the remainder of that great municipal artery and increasing the value of property thereon in addition to enhancing the public convenience. Happily, this innovation in street lighting occurred at the opening of the fleet festivities when it was naturally more conspicuous and impressive.

Mexico has frequently reported during the past thirty years the thorough subjugation of the Yaqui Indians of Sonora, to be demonstrated soon after that the tribe was very much alive and a source of national trouble. Recently it was reported that the policy adopted by the United States toward the one-time troublesome Apaches was about to be put into effect, namely, their removal to Yucatan—the remotest State in the republic from their own country, where they could be controlled by the government. Now it appears that it is doubtful whether this policy can be successfully carried out by the government. The Yaqui Indians is the only tribe in the republic which Mexico has been unable to conquer, and, notwithstanding its numerous wars with them, the government appears as far from accomplishing its purpose as it ever was.

Alameda county this year makes a grand showing in the amount of money which it turns over to the State, as the proceeds of tax collections and sales.

While the railroad corporations throughout the country have been for some time past reporting greater activity in business, it is somewhat astonishing to learn that the number of idle cars is still increasing. In October last year there was a shortage of over 85,000 cars. The American Railway Association now reports over 400,000 idling.

POLITICAL DISSOLVING VIEWS.

THAT SCHMITZ DECISION

Chief Justice Beatty of the Supreme Court of California has written a communication to the Sacramento Bee in which he undertakes to explain the decision of the court in the case of Ex-Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco. This letter will be instructive to those individuals who form their opinions from the highly colored and indigestible mental pabulum furnished them by the yellow press.

Judge Beatty, who is one of the most honest, as well as one of the most learned jurists in the country, says the Supreme Court did not decide, as many people have been led to believe, that the acts properly imputed to Schmitz and Ruef, and which the prosecution claimed to have proved, did not constitute the crime of extortion.

Nor was it held by the Court that there was anything wrong with the law, but only that there had been a failure to charge the acts which the law makes punishable, and that there can be no valid conviction without a valid accusation.

The Legislature of California by a constitutional law has enumerated the facts of which courts may take judicial notice in the absence of proof and by necessary implication has excluded all others, including the fact that any particular person is mayor or political boss of a particular city. Necessarily facts which must be proved where they are matters of proof, must be alleged where they are matters of allegation as in an indictment.

It was for the express purpose of defining the power of the courts as to the matters they would consider without allegation or proof that this law was passed and judges are bound to obey it. No lawyer supposes that judges can disregard it, and no argument upon such a supposition was ever advanced in support of the indictment by any of the learned gentlemen representing the people of the State.

If a court should ignore or set aside a rule it would cease to be a rule, one deviation would beget others, it would be applied with greater or less strictness according to the temper and inclination of the particular judge in

BOYS SENT TO FARMS ON PROBATION DOING WELL

Lads Write to Juvenile Court Officials Telling Experience.

Judge Samuels of the Oakland City Juvenile Court and Probation officer Ruess are much elated over the success of their boys who have recently been induced to go to the country and live with relatives on farms.

This letter of from a thirteen-year-old burglar, who has gone to the southern part of the State, but reports monthly by mail his uncle writing also of his conduct and progress. "I am getting along alright and having lots of fun. I have been going to town on a wool wagon. I have to go for the cows at night on the horse. I have been working in the garden. We are planting a lot of vegetables. I went down to the garden and planted a lot of tomatoes. We are going to hatch some ducks in a little while. I am growing a lot since I have been here. I am getting fat."

In a letter this transplanted boy writes, "I am getting along alright and a few days ago I had the collar from eating honey." "How is Mr. Mervin?" "He is still alive." Mr. Mervin is the sprightly seventy-five-year-old young man who is Oakland Attendance Officer and Deputy Probation Officer.

Another boy burglar who has gone to the northernmost part of the State has been heard from. His mother says "This is rather a rough mountain mining town, but very healthy and the people no associates with are good, honest country people, with simple habits and kind hearts." Probation Officer Ruess thinks that this description can not be beat. The mother adds "I hope the other boys are doing as well as my boy."

Society Life Which Divides Wife Likes Family

CHICAGO, May 11. — Living in adjoining residences at 19 and 21 Walton place, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederic Mather Smith are as widely separated as if an ocean rolled between them.

Mrs. Smith, the wife, gave a small dinner party to a few of her intimate friends. At the same time her husband was attending a farewell dinner in the house next door, given for his brother, George, and the latter's wife, who shortly afterward started for their home in Colorado Springs.

"We hope there will be a reconciliation, but we cannot tell," said Miss Mary Smith, sister of the husband.

The husband and wife have occasionally encountered each other just outside their respective doors. They pass with averted faces and do not speak.

Their little girl plays in both houses. First she is seated on the knee of her father. Then she is back at her mother's side, wondering why her father and mother do not see each other any more.

Inharmonious temperament is assigned as the cause of the separation by Miss Smith. The wife is fond of society. The husband who is vice president of Bradner Smith and company, and an exceedingly busy man, cares nothing for society. He wraps himself up in his books and before the separation more than one quarrel took place between himself and his wife because he did not observe what she considered his social duties. "It simply is a question of temperament," said Miss Smith who was the only member of the family who would discuss the case. We hope the separation will be only temporary. It is not due to any complaint of the conduct of either husband or wife, but simply because they had so few tastes in common.

Miss Smith is on friendly terms with her sister-in-law and so is C. M. Smith, the father, who is old and feeble and remains at the residence at 21 Walton place, with his son and daughter.

Mrs. Mather Smith formerly was Miss Kathleen McDonald, at one time considered one of the most beautiful young women in Chicago and active in settlement work. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald, who reside at 351 Chestnut street. At one time her father was rich. He also is too feeble to leave his residence and declined to enter into any discussion of his daughter's domestic affairs, beyond admitting there had been a separation.

Mrs. Smith lives alone in her residence, having a retinue of servants. The separation was under consideration a year ago. At that time Mr. Smith indignantly denied that there was any trouble between himself and his wife, but several months ago they decided to go their respective ways. Since then Mr. Smith has not set foot inside his former residence, although Mrs. Smith has visited her husband's home next door and Miss Mary Smith runs in for a neighborly chat every day or so.

Mrs. Smith declined to discuss her domestic affairs.

LIKES EUCHRE BETTER THAN A HUSBAND

PARIS, May 13.—From seventeen to Bielsch thought he would make his wife feel badly by roaming away from home, and that she would be anxious to get him back again, he was very much mistaken.

"He showed what he was when he went away and left me. Now let him stay away," said Mrs. Bielsch. "I am tired of having a man around, anyway," she continued. "What good is a man anyway? Especially a man who will go away just to worry and spite me. He thought I'd be just crazy for him to come back."

"He called me up by telephone the other morning, and began talking soft to me. I was too busy to talk to him. I hung up the receiver and went on with my work. I'm too busy to fool with a trifling thing like a husband."

"Ah, you'll take him back, all right," a neighbor said to Mrs. Bielsch.

"Will I? You wait and see," she retorted. "I can run this business without him."

Mr. and Mrs. Bielsch have a grocery store at No. 3412 South Broadway. They have been married eighteen years, and have three sons, the eldest a sailor in the navy.

They quarreled about her membership in a woman's euchre club. She went to the meetings twice a week, and he objected to it. He said to her while he was angry:

"You have got to give up your euchre club or give up me."

"That's easy. I'll give up you," she answered.

He took some money from the safe and disappeared. She called up the bureau of information at Union Station and told them if they saw a fat man, weighing about 275 pounds, around there to get from him the combination of their safe and then to let him go to New York or any other place.

"Huh, I don't want him back," she repeated as she wrapped up a quart of beans or a customer. "This store does a nice little business. I know how to run it. I've got it. Possession is nine points of the law, and I'm going to hang on."

"But suppose he comes back and de-

A RETROSPECT

My boyhood lies far, far away
Down the dim road of Yesterday,
Yet oft the heart within me cries
For just one glimpse of those glad skies,
Of that lost time when hearts were gay.

What joyous, care-free days were they!
What merry games we used to play!
I gaze back where—ah! how time flies—
My boyhood lies.

So now, my temples streaked with gray,
I sit and dream of lifetime's May,
As Memory old Time defies;
Though smiling, I cannot despise
Those master fictions of their day—
My boyhood lies.

Take $25,000 From Old Miser's Hut

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 13.—Married more excited fortune hunters are looking for the gold eagles and greenbacks of aged William Henry Jayne, a miser, who died in a hut at Hempstead, La., last December, leaving $25,000 hidden in his house and barn.

On the night of his death Jayne asked a neighbor who was staying with him to help him to the barn. The neighbor protested that it was raining and that Jayne might die from exposure, but the miser insisted. Finally he was half-carried an half-dragged to the barn and up to the loft, where he got down on his hands and knees and rummaged in the hay, bringing out a bag which was so heavy that he could hardly lift it. He then dragged himself back to the house with his neighbor's assistance, fell just inside the door of the hut, and died within five minutes, with his arms around the bag. It was opened later and was found to contain $5000 in gold pieces.

The next day Sylvanus de Mott and Benjamin de Mott, cousins of the dead miser, took possession of the place, made an examination and discovered $2000 more in old shoes and mattresses. When the miser died it was known that he had six relatives living, but since the gold was found more than twenty who claim relationship with the miser have appeared. When the matter comes up for final settlement before Surrogate Jackson in the Nassau County Surrogate's court there will in all probability be a hard fight among them over the estate.

Surrogate Jackson appointed Charles Bailey and Sylvanus de Mott administrators, and they at once began a thorough search of the entire place for money. At night when they were away men came to dig about the hut. Almost the entire ten acres the miser owned was spaded over in the hunt for gold.

It was decided to tear down the hut, and workmen began recently to remove the shingles. When the rafters were exposed Mr. Bailey saw two bags lying close to the ridge pole and quickly hauled them out. They broke open under the weight they contained, and a shower of five, ten and twenty dollar gold pieces fell to the floor beneath, besides many rolls of bills of large denomination.

The bills were so old that many of them could not be made out, but the entire find was counted to be worth more than $12,000, making in all over $25,000 that Miser Jayne had hidden in his old hut and barn. Jayne's entire property is worth $50,000, for his acres adjoin the Garden City estates and the Salisbury golf links and are very valuable. Jayne cultivated this land and sold the produce to the residents of Garden City and Hempstead.

PARISIAN ACTRESSES STRIVE AFTER WASP-LIKE WAISTS

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—If William twenty inches runs the waist measure of the twenty most beautiful actresses in Paris. This interesting fact became known this week as the result of careful measurements undertaken by an enterprising newspaper which makes a specialty of theatrical matters.

Miss Polaire holds the record, with a waist which measures a scant seventeen inches when she is fully dressed.

The craze for slim waists now is at its height. A specialist this week said half the women he is now treating for colds, pneumonia, and other ills brought on the illness by sacrificing warm clothing to the fad for appearing thin.

"Nine-tenths of the fashionable women in Paris," he said, "now are going about the streets insufficiently clad."

"Infant" Divorce Elopes One Unfortunate Matrimonial Alliance Fails to Cure His Wife

NEW YORK, May 13.—A score or at the age of 16, after an elopement, and divorced at 17, when she was still an "infant" in the eyes of the law, having been deserted by her husband after three months of married life, Miss Lucille Rhorer, 18 years old, of 4559 McMillan avenue, has not only failed to acquire a pessimistic view of matrimony, but within six months after having obtained her divorce has married again.

James H. Rogers, a commercial traveler, is her partner in her second matrimonial experiment.

Miss Rhorer was married in St. Louis for the first time on June 1, 1905, to Norman Gausman, when she was 14 years old. Three months after their marriage Gausman sent his wife to visit her sister in Des Moines, Ia., telling her he was obliged to go to Texas on a business trip. She never saw him again.

A year later she filed suit for divorce in Judge Shields' division of the St. Louis Circuit court. She brings an "infant" under the law, the suit was filed in the name of her next friend, Henry O'Flynn, her brother-in-law.

In her testimony at the trial of the case she told Judge Shields that her life with Gausman was made intolerable by his late hours, drinking, and cigarette smoking. Judge Shields granted the decree last fall.

Miss Rhorer, her maiden name registered by the court, then went to live with her sister, Mrs. O'Flynn, at the McMillan avenue address.

Two weeks ago the child divorcee was introduced to James H. Rogers. Her previous matrimonial experience had not embittered her toward other suitors, and when Rogers determined to win her, he found no spirit of pessimism to overcome. His courtship was of the rapid fire order. Within a week they were engaged, but the wedding date had not been set.

Friday afternoon Rogers and Miss Rhorer were members of a jolly luncheon party at Faust's.

Rogers secured her consent to go to the city hall and get a marriage license. They quietly left the group at the tables and visited Clark Ruedi's office. From there it was but a step to the office of Justice Moore, 1007 Chestnut street, and in a few moments the young divorcee was again a wife. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers then went to the Marquette hotel for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will leave in a few days to spend their honeymoon at Rogers' home in Mayville, N.

OAKLAND CONVALESCENTS NEED VINOL
It Hastens Recovery by Creating Strength.

There is just one thing the matter with a person who has been sick—that is, weakness.

To all such people in Oakland we recommend our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, as the very best strength creator we have ever sold in our store.

Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite, promotes sound sleep, makes rich, red blood, and builds up a depleted system to health and vigor.

This is because Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal and strength creating elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

We return money to those who try Vinol and receive no benefit. The (Oakland) Drug Company, Oakland, Cal.

The above sign is now seen in many shops and offices in this city, because drinking men are unreliable.

$27,000 DEFICIT IN ACTORS' FUND

Thespians Hard to Find During Days of Prosperity, Says Crane.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Actors Fund of America was held yesterday. Less than fifty of the 1800 members were present. Daniel Frohman, the president, said that in the twenty-seven years of the fund's existence it had disbursed more than a million dollars to the needy, but that the last year had shown a deficit of $27,000.

William H. Crane said that the trouble with the actors is that it is hard to find them when they are prosperous. He offered a resolution to ask all the managers in America to insert in a clause in the contracts to deduct from the fourth week the annual $2 dues of the fund. The resolution was carried.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Daniel Frohman, president; Y. B. Grismer, vice president; Tony Pastor, treasurer; Frank McKee, secretary.

Al Hayman, F. A. Mackay, William H. Crane, Heinrich Conrad, Joseph Brooks, Thomas McGrath, Al Hayman and Frank Burbeck, trustees.

CIVIL AND NAVY OFFICERS JOIN IN SAILORS' BALL

Jacky Leads Grand March With Rear Admiral Thomas' Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The fleet ball at the Auditorium last night established a precedent in social equality in the Navy.

Admirals and yeomen, the Mayor of the city, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and two thousand sailors, danced with society matrons and pretty girls. And the thing about it all that surprised the critical was that everybody had a good time, a most unusually good time in fact.

"This makes respectability fashionable," exclaimed Admiral Thomas as he sought the lemonade corner after participating in the grand march, where rank had been out-ranked, and a yeoman from the Kearsarge, with Mrs. Thomas, had led, and the chief in command of the battleships had walked second. The procession of the eighteen battle-ships, as they entered the ball, was never imposing, but this grand march where American sailors walked together with Judges and Admirals was something that could not have been equaled by any foreign Navy in the world.

SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT THE GREAT FLEET

YOUNG AMERICA ABOARD
THE GREAT BATTLESHIPS

Patriotic Lesson for the School Children

This was the Oakland American youths' day on board the great battleships lying so majestically in the bay of San Francisco. About 3000 of the future citizens of this country and their prospective wives availed themselves of the privilege.

It was the day set apart for the inspection of the seafighters by the children of the public schools of this city and it was a day which will long be remembered. Boys and girls of every age, between nine and twenty-one years, and not a few determined little people under six years, who had been declared ineligible to take part in the outing, were in attendance, making their appearance at the wharves from which the steamers were to sail with their precious loads of humanity to the white, silent fortresses floating serenely on the placid waters of the bay.

Parents and Escorts.

There were there also fond and patriotic parents who desired to afford their offspring an object lesson in patriotism and there were also in attendance older brothers and sisters who had already been visitors to the vessels of the armada and who were devoting their time to looking after the safety of their many little charges and all young and mature, were as merry as kittens in a basket of wool.

The steamers plying between this city and the fighting machines received their precious cargoes at the foot of Broadway and at Adams wharf. From the former place the steamer Hercules made round trips and from the other wharf the passengers were carried by the premier Etna B. and the Suisun City. These made four trips each and on every trip were filled to their full capacity. The charge for the round trip was twenty-five cents but there was not a parent who was not glad to provide the money even when his or her family consisted of such a number of little ones as would give pleasure to the chief executive of the nation.

Scenes of Liveliness.

There were lively scenes on the battleships when the youthful Americans got aboard. Everything had to be inspected, especially the great guns in the turret. A few adventurous young gentlemen were actually disappointed when they were not able to realize their ambition by climbing to the yard on which the speed guns and the signals are displayed for the guidance and the direction of the fleet.

Delight Everywhere.

There were things aboard ship to delight every little person and not the least feature of the pleasure afforded was the interest which was taken by the officers and men in the visit of the youth and the willingness with which they answered the myriad of questions which can be propounded only by an American child.

DEAD WOMAN NOT
MRS. CARMIN,
SAYS WILKINSNew Trial Necessary If Tale of Convicted Murderer Is True.

That the woman with whom he lived and of whose murder he now stands convicted, was not Mrs. Vernie Carmin is the startling assertion of Mark A. Wilkins, who occupies a cell in the county jail. Wilkins will come up before Superior Judge Melvin on May 18 for sentence, having been found guilty of murder in the first degree. He still stoutly maintains his innocence. He rests comfortably in his cell, eats well and sleeps well.

Wilkins declares that the woman with whom he was living was born and raised in Hannibal, Missouri, and that her parents still reside in that place. He refuses, however, to give any names, saying that his attorney will attend to that. Hugh McInnes, counsel for Wilkins, is for the East in connection with the completion of his client's trial. He would not tell of his mission, but Wilkins would not tell of his mission. East for the purpose of locating Mrs. Carmin and of finding out the facts about the woman with whom he says he was living.

It is Wilkins' contention that he claims that he was convicted of murdering the wrong woman, he will of necessity have to be granted a new trial and the verdict condemning him to the gallows will have to be ignored.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Will Again Wear Star.—James T. Drev, who was appointed to the police force on June 21, 1901, and who was temporarily retired on October 17, 1904, because of illness and who was near death for many months, has regained his health and will resume his duties in the department on July 1. His and his family are now living at 315 Twenty-third street.

Chimney Fire.—Fire caused by a defective flue threatened the home of Mrs. T. Duffy, 1307 Fifth avenue, this morning. The prompt arrival of the fire department prevented a spread of the flames. The damage was nominal.

Snail Robbed of Watch.—E. W. Hill, of the United States Cruise California, reported to the Oakland police today the theft of a gold, diamond-set watch, on the back case of which is the engraving of a battleship.

Short Change Workers.—C. Grosjean, of 227 Twelfth street, reports that two men entered his place of business yesterday and asked change for $10 in gold. After the change had been given them they left the place hurriedly. After they had disappeared he discovered that the men had left $5 in gold instead of $10 on the counter.

Victims of Thieves.—Mrs. Nettie Temple, of 131 East Miner street, reports that she is in Oakland on a visit, reports the theft of a purse containing $25 while Mrs. Temple was in the city. She reports the theft of a watch valued at $15 and a ring at the value of $15.

held one hundred; was first to leave the wharf in charge of Captain Cove, with Captain Edward Hansen on the bridge. Waves Dash Over Barge.

It was very breezy on the bay and the water dashed upon the barge and dampened the clothes of many of the pupils and teachers. The pupils as well as the teachers protected themselves by holding the life-preservers up to their faces. Hats flew into the bay and many of the children became sea sick.

The round-trip fare on the Hercules was twenty-five cents but on several of the other launches a fare of fifty cents was charged, despite the fact that it had been stated that but 25 cents would be charged.

The first launches left the Webster street wharf at 9:30 o'clock, carrying one thousand men, women and children, either to the flagship Connecticut, New Jersey or the Minnesota.

At 10:45 a. m. the launches were safely unloaded and the visitors from the Oakland schools were greeted with open arms by the officers and sailors. The children were keyed up to the highest pitch of enthusiasm and patriotism.

MORE VICTIMS TRACED TO GUNNESS FARMHOUSE

Lamphere Denies He Has Planned to Confess

LAPORTE, Ind., May 12.—Mrs. Gunness, hired man, Ray Lamphere, denied today that he had made any confession or promised any to the Rev. E. A. Schell, or to any other. Lamphere is under arrest here, charged with complicity in the wholesale murders at the Gunness farm.

Unless the sludging of the powdered debris taken from the cellar of the ruined Gunness farm house results in startling discoveries, the production of further tangible evidence in the tragedy is not unlikely. Yesterday's developments exhausted most of the sources from which have sprung the sensations of the case, and the authorities are now confronted with the task of endeavoring to find the corroborative details of the main points already deduced and of forging the missing links in the chain of testimony, with which they are binding the more or less scattered parts of the baffling case into a coherent whole.

Just how successful they will be in this work is not likely to be revealed until Ray Lamphere is brought to trial. Prosecutor R. N. Smith has evidently modified his previous determination to rush the case into court. He insists that the evidence already available is sufficient to prove the state's contention, but the recent activity of the defense and the strengthening of its forces show that a desperate fight is to be made on behalf of Lamphere.

Coroner Completes Work.

Coroner Mack has received and made public the results of his investigations on all the known bodies except that supposed to have been Ole Budsberg, of Iowa. The four burned bodies found in the ruins of the house are dead indeed so far as further investigation by the coroner is concerned.

None of the other bodies has been identified. What developments do come probably will be in the direction of establishing the identity of the men who were seen to enter the farmhouse, but never to leave it. Yesterday three such persons were traced to the Gunness home, the evidence regarding John Moe of Ellsworth Lake, Minn., and Henry Gerhart of Scandinavia, Wis., being almost conclusive. The fate of George Bady of Tuscola, Ill., is less certain.

Moe was traced to the farm by means of the banking transactions which preceded his visit.

Banks to Aid.
Officials of three La Porte banks held a conference today to determine the most effective way in adding the authorities in untangling the murder mysteries. It was decided that they should furnish a list of all transactions in which Mrs. Gunness paid out, deposited or received money.

Stories of letters asking about supposed visitors to the Gunness farm have been received, but the vast majority of these epistles are either illegible or anonymous.

Coroner Mack today received from Osgood City, Kas., inquiries concerning Emil Tell, who left that city about a month ago to come to La Porte. Tell is said to have had $3000. His relatives have heard nothing from him since he left.

One of the watches found in the ruins of the Gunness home was shown today to be a watch of Ole Budsberg, one of the supposed victims of Mrs. Gunness, from Iowa, Wis.

Made no Statement.
BALTIMORE, Md., May 12.—Rev. Dr. E. A. Schell, of LaPorte, Ind., denied today that he had said that Ray Lamphere helped to kill the Gunness children, but had no part in slaying of any men except Helgelein.

"I have made no statement regarding this or any detail of my interview with Lamphere, except to say that Lamphere's communications to me were wholly privileged, and unless he shall himself make statements to Prosecutor Smith, it will be maintained as an inviolable secret."

29 Convicts Killed
in Prison Outbreak

YERKATEENOSLAV, May 12.—The attempt made yesterday by prisoners to break out of the government jail here after making a breach in the wall of the guard room with a bomb, has resulted in the death of 29 of the convicts. These prisoners were either killed outright or received wounds from which they have since died. Of the 28 wounded 11 are in a serious condition.

RELEASED ON BAIL.
Herman Joutsen, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff pending payment of alimony to his wife, who has been in the county jail for several weeks, has been released on bail. A notice from the Supreme court that arguments for Joutsen's release on a writ of habeas corpus are to be heard on June 1 by Justice Beatty caused the order.

Ohio Night Riders

WEST UNION, Ohio, May 12.—Night riders last night applied a torch to the large barn of William Shell, four miles west of this city, almost under the very noses of soldiers under command of Captain Darnell, the property loss being $3500.

WILL REPLACE THE SIGNS ON THE STREET
It was announced at the meeting of the Board of Works this morning that the American Sign Company of Clyde, Ohio, has agreed to replace all the street signs in the city. These new signs are now on the way.

LIVERMORE REJOICES
OVER WESTERN PACIFIC
Town to Welcome Line Saturday Next

LIVERMORE, May 12.—The track of the Western Pacific Railroad which is now being laid in this direction from Stockton will reach this city on Saturday night, and the town will be celebrating that day as was never celebrated on an event of any kind in this city before.

On that day, the town will be the scene of one of the most joyous welcomes that could possibly be extended to the road which means so much for the development of not only Livermore but also all the Livermore valley.

On the same day, the citizens will felicitate themselves over the issuance of $5,000 bonds for sewer purposes, which was authorized by the people a few days ago by a vote of 315 in the affirmative to 12 in the negative.

Cessation From Business.

There will be a general cessation from business and every body will devote the day to mutual congratulation, and taking part in festivities which will be not only entertaining in themselves but which will, at the same time, be all the more worthy of appreciation for the reason that they represent the unanimous sentiment of the community that the coming of another railroad to Livermore is an event of the greatest importance to the community.

Festival Inaugurated.
The celebration was inaugurated last Monday night, at a meeting of citizens which Mayor Knox presided. The purpose of the gathering was announced by his honor and the announcement was greeted with cheers.

A number of persons present made short speeches, but it was apparent that speech making was not necessary for every one was so strongly in favor of the proposition that there were no doubting Thomases who had to be convinced.

Working Committees.

It was immediately decided to appoint committees for the purpose of carrying out the project and this work was performed in a satisfactory manner by the presiding officer.

Executive committee—George Beck, D. D. Spillinger, M. M. Sanderson, M. G. Callaghan, and A. L. Henry.

Committee on music and dancing—Charles McDonald, Hank Seeband and David Beck.

Donations From Everybody.

The committees set about resolutely to discharge the commission entrusted to them and were gratified to discover that they went to place where they were not received in the most hospitable manner. In a number of instances, they were anticipated in their requests for assistance by being asked in what manner the people called on could be of service. In a short time several hundred dollars were subscribed and with a few hours hundreds of dollars' worth of provisions of all kinds were donated for the feast which is to grace the occasion and will not be imported to the festivities.

Bees and Good Things.
In a twinkling, the butchers' donated three beehives, others gave hives, others still donated hives in indefinite variety. LAWYER TELLS MRS.
MARTIN TO SHUT UP

Woman Prisoner Develops Compulsive Frame of Mind Which Enlivens Case.

Mrs. Isabella Martin had the sulks again this morning when she appeared before Judge John S. H. Brown on a charge of dynamiting the home of Superior Judge Ogden. She also developed a compulsive frame of mind and just before court convened for the morning session she told District Attorney Brown that while she believed he was an honest man she was getting much the worst of an all-around bad mess and was being railroaded to jail.

Wants to Have Her Say.

"I want an opportunity to cross-examine 'Baby John' myself," she said, "and you can rely upon it that I will make him confess himself more to the truth than he has up to this time. Well, if you won't let me talk here I can assure for 101 days, $250,000. I am held for trial and I will make things hum."

"You should not talk that way," said District Attorney Brown, but his words only added fuel to the flames and Mrs. Martin again broke out, saying that she would talk if she felt like it.

"Baby" John is Recalled.

Late yesterday afternoon Detective Hocking conducted his testimony under cross-examination and the written confession made by "Baby John" at Weaverville, which first pointed the finger of suspicion at Mrs. Martin, was introduced in evidence without any objections on the part of the defense. The boy witness was then recalled to the stand for further cross-examination. He was taken over a long line of testimony he had given under direct examination and stuck close to what he had told before.

EDOFF FILES HIS THIRD REPORTSeveral Suits Begun by Receiver in Interests of California Bank.

James B. Edoff, receiver of the California Bank, has filed his third report, which will come up before Superior Judge Harris on Friday afternoon, next.

The report shows the progress that has been made in the receivership from January 20 to April 30.

The tabulation is as follows: Reduction of liability to depositors as shown on last statement, $221,741; paid creditors and dividends since March 31, $37,732.53; due deposits reduced by offset, $155,608; net result of reduced liability was turned into the San Francisco Board of Trade. Culligan made an assignment to the Board of Trade across the bay and that body has ordered him to pay fifty cents on the dollar on all claims.

Edoff reports that he sold the old safe in the bank's former headquarters for $500, and wishes the sale confirmed by the court. He further reports that James P. Taylor, assignee of Lloyd M. Robbins, had turned a claim for $2200 over to him for payment. Robbins acted as an expert accountant for the bank. Taylor also turned over a claim for $2000 on behalf of George D. Metcalf and W. R. Davis, who rendered services to the bank.

Edoff asked Judge Harris to tell him what to do with these claims.

NEW SKIN REMEDY.

Creates Big Stir; Drug Stores Crowded With Sufferers.
For several weeks past the Owl drug stores in this city have been crowded with persons desiring a supply of posolun, the new cure for eczema. This is the drug which has created such a stir throughout the country since its discovery one year ago.

For the convenience of those who use posolun for pimples, blackheads, blotches, red nose, acne, herpes and other minor skin troubles, a special 50-cent package has been adopted in addition to the regular two-dollar jar, which is now on sale at all leading drug stores.

The posolun cream stops the itching with first application and proceeds to heal curing chronic cases in two weeks. In minor skin troubles, results show after an overnight application. For a free experimental sample, write direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fourth Street, New York City.

KAUFMAN WALLOPS IRON MAN JOE GRIM

KAUFMAN LOOKS AS WELL AS EVER IN HIS LIFE

Colored Wonder and Boer Unholz Will Clash Tomorrow Night—Unholz Strong and Confident He Will Make Good Showing.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Tomorrow night at the Coliseum Joe Gans and Boer Unholz will hook up in what Jack Gleason has billed as a twenty round contest for the lightweight championship of the world. Gans has been located at Billy Shannon's in San Rafael, for the past three weeks where he has had plenty of time to gradually work himself into perfect condition. The weight has not been hard for the old timer as the first day that he entered the gymnasium he only weighed 133 pounds, which means that he had only six pounds to reduce.

Now that Joe is growing older and the time for his long reign as lightweight champion consequently getting shorter, the old master realizes that he must always be in good shape when he enters into a contest no matter how easy his opponent may appear and for that reason Trainer Keefe has had an easy time in conditioning his fighter.

The Boer to say the least is in grand condition for the most important contest of his career and appears to have plenty of confidence that he will win. Mentioning the fact that the majority of the experts figured him to have little or no chance with Gans he replied, "Well they didn't think I had a chance with Nelson at Los Angeles but I won from both, and I want to tell you this, if I can't beat Gans then no lightweight living can." This is a sample of the ever ready talk that the Boer hands out by the yard and with it he seems to be sincere in all that he says.

Way down in his heart Unholz is not as confident that he will win from Gans as the sincerity with which he talks of his probable showing would indicate. The real feeling that exists at the Unholz camp is to the effect that the Boer will make a good showing, even if Gans is in his old time condition and that with his strength and awkwardness he may be just the one to cop the championship if Gans has slipped back as it is possible that he has.

WAITING FOR CHAMPION.

For the past few years several of the lightweights have been waiting the time for Mr. Gans to slip back so that they could step in and win that championship, and this especially applies to Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson, yet here is the old master going along in his same old patient manner, carrying the crown of champion lightweight, apparently as well balanced on his feet as the others of his time are still a long way from the championship.

The writer is of the opinion that when an old time fighter starts to go back that it is next to impossible to detect it at the training camp by watching the fighter do his work, yet after watching Gans and collecting as much information as possible on his condition, it does not appear to me that the colored wonder has slipped back one bit since he was last seen here.

At Gans' last appearance he met Jimmy Britt and because he did not stop him with one mighty wallop the people have intimated that perhaps the old time stinging punch has left him. The writer for one takes a very different view of that contest, Gans was a bit better against the Britt family and wanted to work out a vengeance on Jimmy. When the contest opened he simply went right up to the firing line and began to exchange punches and the exhibition that he gave of blocking and hitting that afternoon will be remembered by the writer for many years to come.

Gans blocked and hit all with the same movement of the arms and with every shot right and left punch to the face and body he landed the light weight from head to foot, the punches did not travel more than six or eight inches but they just slipped inside of the white man's guard with such snap and regularity that in three rounds Britt was beaten into submission, after having run the gauntlet of all the best lightweights and having earned a reputation as being one of the greatest men in the ring.

It is not the one big wallop that Gans will endeavor to beat Unholz with, it is with the continued rap on the body and chin of punches of sufficient force to daze a man that he expects to do the trick.

Unholz is of the opinion that he will be able to rush into Gans so fast that the colored fighter will be unable to use his cleverness. The admirers of the champion, including the writer, may have a different opinion, but if Gans is to be beaten it will most likely be by some strong, rugged fellow such as Boer Unholz.

SEALS LAMBASTE HOPKINS' CURVES AND WIN THE GAME

Long's Men in Fine Batting Fettle Scramble the Eggs for Oakland and Win Out 6 to 2.

Once more old Lefty Suter, Mr. Long's trusted southpaw prove worthy of the trust reposed in his faithful wing. He stood up before the Nameless Nine for nine innings said "Ski-boosh" a couple of times and the bright-eyed Oaklanders fell dead before his delivery 8 to 2.

Whatever magic there may be in the word "Ski-boosh" applied to the national pastime Mr. Suter went through with it all right. As it was the best batting team in the Coast League got four meekly hit off the delivery of the southpaw, while the Seals combed Mr. Hopkins for fourteen safe raps.

The Seals outplayed the Nameless hough not blameless team, and the poor Oakland outfit were picking up four hits, Mr. Long's dandy young men cleared up with fourteen hits of various sizes and assortments.

From the very start it was only a question of time when the Seals would take up the game. The Oaklanders, Ralsult, the bandit, and Hap Hogan, who saw that terrible bandit on a canvas vision declared that they had more smoke back of their punches.

Oakland started well enough, but the finish was blue and craven. The Oaklanders pushed one over the plate in the very opening when Van Halteren and Heitrueller walked and Hogan poked out a smokeless single, scoring the 6 to 0.

Oakland went to the blink in the second period, when they allowed the Seals to tie it up on Zeider's single. Piper's sacrifice and Eagan's zobish error of McCardle's rap at him. The home team went bravely to the fore in the fourth inning when they scored on Cooke's single, his steal and Haley's double into the poods.

KAUFMAN GAINS VERDICT OVER IRON MAN JOE GRIM

Italian Man Makes Interesting Speech, but Fails to Do Any Real Fighting.

BY T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

Big Al Kaufman, although sick and by means himself easily scared, a decision over Joe Grim, the chess monger from Philadelphia, at the Reliance Athletic Club last night. As a ring fighter Grim is one huge "Zob," but as a clown and comedian he has some of the boys who are drawing on "thous" per backed off the box and into the gymnasium along the one-night stands.

Kaufman slammed Grim at will and it will never be said of Kaufman that he is a clever ringman. Grim's greatest forte is a monologue and in this he is a scream.

"Zheenteelmen: Joe De Grim, is ze one biga de Iron Man. Al de Kauf, cannot beata de Joe de Grim. I betta five hundred dolls, I lasta da sixa rounds." That was the speech that the "Cast Iron Herkimer Cheese" made when he donned the gloves.

It was a great and set the crowd in convulsions. Joe's make-up would put the wardrobe man in Weber and Field's on the griddle. The costume that Joe de Grim wore was one loud crash. Joe had de biga da body. Round like de barrel. The underpinning of the "Cheer Man" were encased in a crocheted pair of knickerbockers done in red and Allice-blue stripes. Oh it is ze cute knickerbockers for ze great Iron Man!

Style of Fighting.

Grim fights much after the fashion of the star member of the scrub ladies' union, chasing a elusive bar of soap over a wet marble floor. He wallops and flounders and flops. So far as punching ability is concerned, he couldn't punch a transfer if he was a conductor on a street car. He is one big Zob Joe sticks the limit with most men, but he can't really do much harm, that they think they are at the Orpheum instead of in the ring.

In one round Joe stuck de toong out de foot and said "Heeta me Al, you beega dub." Kaufman took the dare and landed an awful wallop on Joe's chin. It almost severed the best fighting quality that Grim possesses. Joe was vera de seek when Al landed on de cheek. After that Grim went through the awful agony of having to keep his tongue in his cheek.

Kaufman has been ill for the last few days and when he entered the ring he looked like a sick man. However, Al could have his advance order in the embalmer's office and still win from such a "Zob" as Grim.

Six Round Game.

All that Joe knows is enough to stick six rounds. He dances the Marlitch with his opponent, kicking, kids them and gets the credit of being an iron man. If Joe is an iron man, he must be made of pig iron, for the few times that Kaufman landed solidly it looked as though he was going to put blue holes in Joe's anatomy.

After the six-round social Joe made another speech. "Zheenteelmen," said Joe, "Joe de Grim is one da biga fighta man. Big de Kauf, weigh three da pounds mora den he and don't hurta me a bit. I am de biga de iron man. I no beega leeta, I HUH, Joe de Grim, is ze one great da fighter."

While the Kaufman-Grim fight was one jest, worth the price of admission, there was one fight on the card that was the real stuff. Eddie Krusa and Joe McGurn fought like a couple of Kilkeny cats, scoring, scoring, scoring. Eddie Krusa, outweighting McGurn, about twelve pounds and his weight is all that beat McGurn. McGurn is the game kid with the large wallop, and if he is taken good care of he will be heard of in the ring.

CHIT CHAT OF THE GAME

Hopkins didn't have the right sort of hop with which to buffet the Seals yesterday.

Boston is after Dolly Gray. Boston is also after a lot of other things. Right now Boston has no chance to land Dolly.

Slattery must have been ill yesterday. He failed to get a bingle or two.

Evolution of his brain so that they will Optimo Sisters in a little celt entitled "We're waiting for thee and thou."

The melancholy dog did not show up at the game yesterday. Harold Magill is suspected of doing the kidnapping act with him.

Kid Mohler was in form yesterday. He rapped out three safe hits.

Haley badly needs the services of some massage artist who can rub the conclusions of his brain so that they can get out every time that a play that requires some thinking presents itself.

Two singles and a triple is a pretty fair afternoon's work even for so keen a hitter as Melchior.

The logical deduction umphs, O'Connell, failed to see a strike on Slattery yesterday. Probably O'Connell has a new code of rules that allows the leading do battle for supremacy in the fifteenth contest for the Manhattan cup.

From early indications it is believed that fully 30,000 persons will be at the track when the bugle calls the horses to paddock for the big event of the day.

Today's great race will be the seventh round of the classic. Its history is filled with notable performances, and it is likely that at the close of the contest this afternoon there will be a most bitterly fought race.

Long ago when the Metropolitan was nine furlongs, Trieste set a mark of

Portland Wins From 'Champs'

PORTLAND, May 13.—Portland won the opening game from the Los Angeles team yesterday by a score of 5 to 2. Basse's triple with two men on bases scored Portland's first two runs. Both pitchers were inclined to be wild and Los Angeles got one in the third on a hit, two walks and an error. Los Angeles blew up in the sixth and one hit, two walks and two errors gave the home team three runs. A batting rally in the eighth gave the Los Angeles men their final run of the game. Brashear turned his ankle in this third and Eyster relieved him in right field. Score:

Kid Farmer May Die From Beating

PEORIA, Ill., May 13. — Jack Morgan of Indianapolis, knocked out the original "Kid" Farmer in the tenth round of a fight here last night. The first six rounds were slow, but the last four were furious, though Morgan clearly outplayed his man.

Farmer did not recover promptly and after half an hour's work by three physicians he was removed to a hospital where he lies in a semi-conscious condition. Examination showed the man to be suffering from concussion of the brain with slight chances for recovery. Morgan and his seconds, Charles Barthol, the promoter and Referee Ryan, were arrested pending the outcome of the injuries.

Motor Boat Clubs Will Compete Soon

To choose defending boats for the international cup race in August, trial races open to any boat will be held at the station of the Motor Boat Club of America on July 10th and 11th. Three races are planned and the regatta committee reserves the right to select the three fastest, those best fitted to make a successful defense. Boats chosen as defenders must be steered and owned by members of the Motor Boat Club of America.

No better field of horses has entered in several years. When Eysenby finished a dead heat with King in 1905 the horses that came along in the rear were not the equals of those that compete today. From Saldivers, the Brighton cup winner of last season, down to the lightly weighted Don Crole, that is considered by Handicapper Veeburg as the slowest horse in the race, there is not a thoroughbred that has not some claim to distinction as a racer.

It is rarely at this season of the year that so many horses of high class compete. But the open spring weather has been a great help in advancing training and the local racers, who have been longing for a contest between the upper ten will have their wish granted.

There is said to be a chance that Saldivers may not start and at the last moment Mr. Keene may scratch Restigouche and pin his faith in Superman.

The entries for the Metropolitan, the weights, including penalties, the names of the winners and the probable riders, are as follows:

Metropolitan Handicap, for three-year-olds, up, purse $10,000, added; one mile: Jack Atkin, 4, 128, B. Schreiber (Schilling); Saldivers, 4, 120, B. Hitchcock (McCahey); Superman, 4, 119, J. R. Keene (Notter); Dandelion, 4, 118, J. R. Hitchcock (Shaw); McCarter, 4, 117, New-castle (Muggerve); Bookdale (Nymph), 4, 116, H. Whitney (D. Dugan); Baby Wolf, 4, 114, H. PERJUICIO WINS MILE DASH FROM SIDNEY F. IN DRIVE

Sibara, at 40 to 1, Is Close Third—Del Cruzador Comes to Life and Easily Defeats Righteasy.

BY LEE DEMIER.

Two purse and four selling races comprised yesterday's menu at Williams Park. Each race attracted a big field, which consisted of ordinary performers, but the talent managed to hold its own with the bookies, putting over three well-played choices.

The classiest field of the day lined up in the fourth, a mile dash, and Perjuicio, from wire 8 to 1, won the two-year-old event, third on the card. Righteasy, the favorite, was hemmed in all the last part, and was an easy second from Price.

Lord Vilgrane was blocks the best of the fifth, and when McKeefe beat him his lead he came on mid won the six lengths at the wire. In a terrific drive of three, John H. grabbed the place from Chert, which closed like a cyclone, beating out Johnstown.

John H. Sheehan came to the rescue of the front in the second and supplied the "cherry" for the third. Emma's ran a game race and easily held the place safe from the fast closing Koreanian.

URGENT PROTECTION OF NATIONAL RESOURCES

President Roosevelt Confers With Governors

WASHINGTON, May 13. — As a prelude to the conference for the conservation of the natural resources of the country, President Roosevelt gave a dinner at the White House last night to the Governors who are to attend the conference. It was the first social function at which the President of the United States has met the chief executives of the various States and Territories.

The Invited Guests.

The invited guests were Chief Justice Fuller and Associate Justices Harlan, Brewer White, McKenna, Holmes, Day and Moody of the Supreme Court; Secretary of the Interior Garfield and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson; President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Speaker Cannon, Senators Newlands and Bankhead, Representative Theodore Burton, Brigadier General MacKenzie, F. H. Newell, Herbert Knox Smith, Clifford Pinchot, W. J. McGee of the inland waterways commission, J. E. Ryan, Andrew Carnegie, James J. Hill, former Governor George C. Pardee, John F. Hill, John Mitchell and Governors of the following States and Territories: Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, South Carolina, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont, Kentucky, Ohio, Louisiana, Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, Alabama, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, West Virginia, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Arkansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico.

Conference Assembles.

This morning the President and his cabinet officers attended the conference of Governors and other officials in the East Room of the White House. ROOSEVELT ADDRESSES CONFERENCE.

The President in part said: "Governors of the several States, and Gentlemen—I welcome you to this conference at the White House. You have come here at my request so that we may join together to consider the question of the conservation and use of the great fundamental resources of wealth of this nation. So vital is this question, that for the first time in our history the chief executive officers of the States separately and of the States together, representing the nation, have met to consider it."

Theory of Exhaustion.

"The wise use of all of our natural resources, which are our national resources as well, is the great material question of today. I have asked you to come together now because the enormous consumption of these resources, and the threat of imminent exhaustion of some of them, due to reckless and wasteful use, once more calls for common effort, common action."

Conservation Resources.

"The second class of resources consists of those which can not only be used in such manner as to leave them undiminished for our children, but can actually be improved by wise use. The soil, the forests, the waterways come in this category. In dealing with mineral resources, man is able to improve on nature only by putting the resources to a beneficial use which in the end exhausts them. In dealing with the soil and its products man can improve on nature by compelling the resources to renew and even reconstruct themselves in such manner as to give increasingly beneficial results—while the water can be so controlled as to multiply their benefits."

Settlers Negligent.

"Neither the primitive man nor the pioneer was aware of any duty to posterity in dealing with the renewable resources. When the American settler tilled the forest, he felt that there was plenty of forest left for the sons who came after him. When he exhausted the soil of his farm he felt that his son could go west and take another. So it was with his innumerable successors. When the soil wash from the farmer's fields choked the neighboring river he thought only of using the railway rather than boats for moving his produce and supplies. Conditions changed."

"Now all this is changed. On the average the son of the farmer of the day must make his living on his father's farm. There is no difficulty in doing this if the father will exercise wisdom. No wise use of a farm exhausts its fertility. No use of the forests is over the verge of a timber famine in this country, and it is unpardonable for the nation or the states to permit any further cutting of our timber save in accordance with a system which will provide that the next generation shall see the timber increased instead of diminished."

Good Work Done.

"It is largely because of this that I appointed the Waterways Commission last year and that I have sought to perpetuate its work. I wish to take this opportunity to express in heartiest fashion my acknowledgment to all the members of the commission. At great personal sacrifice of time and effort they have rendered a service to the public for which we can not be too grateful. Their report is due to the initiative, the energy, the devotion to duty and the far-sightedness of Clifford Pinchot, to whom we owe so much of the progress we have already made in handling this matter of the conservation and conservation of natural resources. If it had not been for him this convention neither would nor could have been called."

Guard the Future.

"We are coming to recognize as never before the right of the nation to guard its own future in the essential matter of the conservation of the past we have admitted the right

'OUR BOYS IN BLUE' DRAWS BIG HOUSE AT COLUMBIA

In keeping with the spirit of militarism, with which the atmosphere is surcharged at present, occasioned by the presence of Uncle Sam's "Doves of peace and dogs of war," the Columbia stock company is putting on this week the powerful military drama "Our Boys in Blue." The play thrills with human interest from start to finish and is replete with intense dramatic climaxes. The audience is fairly gripped in the heart of the Civil War, when the story reviews the sterner scenes of military life in the confederate stockade at Andersonville prison and the subsequent strike for freedom. Al Hallett made his reappearance and was seen at his best in the role of Giacomo Donati, an Italian fugitive. Lawrence Peterson, who has won a host of friends during his stay here, will be seen for the last time this week as General Warren, C. S. A. He leaves next week for Portland, Oregon. The acting of Al Dickinson, Max Steiner and Virginia Thornton last night in the first and third acts was the occasion of a hearty response by the audience. The rest of the company were well cast. The play will be seen at the Columbia for the balance of the week.

addresses by Andrew Carnegie on "Ores and Related Minerals," and by Dr. I. C. White, professor of geology, University of West Virginia and State Geologist of that State on "Mineral Fuels."

Former President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, led the general discussion on coal mining. The detailed arrangements for the conference, accorded with the importance of the discussion and with the prominence of the men in attendance

S.S.S. CHRONIC ULCERS CURES

Whenever a sore or ulcer refuses to heal it is because the blood is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which corrupts and pollutes the circulation. Nothing is more trying than a non-healing, chronic old ulcer. The very fact that it resists all external applications, and ordinary treatments, is good reason for alarm, for the same germ which produces cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble be from any inherited taint. Surface treatment cannot reach the trouble—the blood is at fault and must be purified before a cure can be hoped for. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It is a perfect blood purifier—one that goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all impurities, poisons and taints. The ulcer can never heal while the blood discharges into it the noxious matter with which it is infected, but when S. S. S. has rid the blood of this cause and freshened and built up the circulation the sore will heal naturally, and of its own accord. S. S. S. begins at the bottom and heals the place as it should be healed and makes a permanent and lasting cure. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any special medical advice desired will be sent free to all who write.

DARING BALLOONIST WILL LET LOOSE PRIZES

Tribune Parachutes Will Contain Valuable Prizes When Captured.

Another crowning piece of amusement for Idora Park Tribune Day is the great balloon ascension at 4 p. m., at which time the daring Professor Hamilton will perform many acrobatic feats in mid-air. Watch for the colored parachutes.

THE TRIBUNE will give away $100 to the public on that day. There will be three parachutes—red, white and blue. The person capturing any of the three will be amply repaid. The red or TRIBUNE parachute will contain an order for a free trip to Los Angeles and return. The white parachute will contain an order for a $30 stylish summer suit on S. M. Friedman, cloak and suit company of this city, leaders in women's styles, who have always given the public the proper thing at the proper time. The blue parachute will contain an order on the Hub, Oakland's exclusive and largest men's haberdashery. Watch for the small red, white and blue parachutes. They are not too small to be seen and they will carry good news and good prizes.

This great feature will increase the interest, as the balloon will go up promptly on time and the little silk red, white and blue parachutes will be turned loose at once so that some fond mother or pretty lassie will have a stylish summer suit free, or cholly boy or father will don a clever 1908 summer suit at the Hub, where style reigns. Don't lose sight of the little red parachute which will send you on a pleasant trip to Los Angeles and return.

The big balloon is a fine new one and Professor Hamilton, the daring and successful aeronaut, will entertain for all. If you have never seen a balloon being inflated and know how the clever mid-air artist operates it, you had better go to Idora Park Friday at 4 p. m.

THE TRIBUNE will honor no order, if presented by any of the staff of this paper or any one connected with the management of Idora Park or the balloon ascension, which will ensure the public a square deal and some jolly good fun.

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—care your cold while you can.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy—by its remarkable cures of colds has become a staple article of trade and commerce. It is the greatest cold remedy in the world. Buy it.

WOMAN LOSES WATCH RIDING ON STREET CAR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Mrs. Mary O'Shaughnessy of Mill Valley reported to the harbor police last evening that she had been robbed of a valuable gold watch while riding on a California street car between the ferry and Chinatown. She had come over to this city to view the illumination and went direct to the Chinese quarter. After a few moments she felt for her watch and found it was gone. It had been pinned on her breast and it is supposed that some clever thief succeeded in taking it off the crowded car.

GUARDIAN SECURES $6747 FOR HIS SISTER

Judge Orders Money Held by Mrs. M. C. Jones Returned to Helen Merritt.

H. F. Giles, guardian of the person and estate of Helen W. Merritt, has won his suit against Mrs. Mary Collins Jones of this city, for the recovery of money, he claimed was due him as guardian. Superior Judge Harris yesterday afternoon rendered judgment in favor of Giles in the sum of $6847 and the judgment was immediately satisfied.

Giles alleged that his sister, Helen Merritt, of whom he was appointed guardian some time ago, had given Mrs. Jones a large sum of money in trust. He claimed that, as her guardian, he demanded this money of Mrs. Jones, but she refused to pay it. He then sued for $10,000.

Judgment Favors Giles.
The trial of the suit was held on May 1 and Judge Harris yesterday rendered judgment in favor of Giles. The court ruled that $12,000 was due Helen Merritt and that $5481.99 was due Mrs. Jones for expenses incurred in boarding Helen Merritt. He therefore adjudged that $6847 was due the estate of Helen Merritt from Mrs. Jones.

Helen W. Merritt, a spinster, came to California about fifteen years ago, and had between $10,000 and $15,000, her earnings. She left California and went to Japan, where she was a successful teacher among the deaf, dumb and blind. While in Japan the woman became imbued with a religious faith and came in contact with missionaries. It is said that she gave several thousand dollars of her wealth to assist in the missionary work.

Returns to Oakland.
In 1902 she came back to Oakland and went to a home for religious persons, which was conducted by Mrs. Mary C.

CURE THE CAUSE

How to Remedy Much of the Suffering in Oakland.

Half of the sickness and suffering in Oakland comes from a weak stomach. Cure the cause by using Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets and be well and happy. Even the most chronic cases yield to Mi-o-na. W. C. Worrell, connected with the Lake Shore Railroad for years, says: "For fifteen years I had acute stomach trouble and nothing helped me. A friend recommended Mi-o-na and two boxes entirely cured me." Cure the cause of your suffering and be well and happy. If the stomach is weak and you have indigestion, flatulence, diarrhoea, headache, etc., get a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na from leading druggists. They give an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless you are cured.

Jones. Mrs. Jones, it was claimed by Giles, induced Helen Merritt to give her several thousands of dollars in trust, Mrs. Jones agreeing to care for the woman. Helen Merritt did this and a trust note was given for the money by Mrs. Jones. H. F. Giles of New Hampshire, a brother of Helen Merritt, heard that his sister was in a religious retreat in this city and came here and was appointed her guardian. It is claimed that Helen Merritt told her brother that she was imprisoned in the home and desired to obtain her liberty. Giles then commenced the suit against Mrs. Jones for his sister's money, which he claimed she refused to turn over at his demand.

It Reached the Spot.
Mr. E. Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as of the Home Telephone Co., of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed." Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the tough spot; it heals the sore spots and the weak spots in throat, lungs and chest. Sold under guarantee at Osgood Bros' drug stores, Seventh and Broadway and Twelfth and Washington streets. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

OUT OF WORK, DESPONDENT, SHOOTS SELF IN HEART

Antonio Vega Unable to Find Employment Commits Suicide.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Antonio Vega, a laborer, living at 841 Pacific street, committed suicide about midnight by shooting himself in the heart. No one heard the shot and the man's body was not found until almost three hours later, when Frank Borbo, his room-mate, returned home from work. Vega is supposed to have become despondent because of his inability to secure employment. He had been forced to draw his small savings from the bank. He had $11, all that remained of his money. He was 26 years old and unmarried.

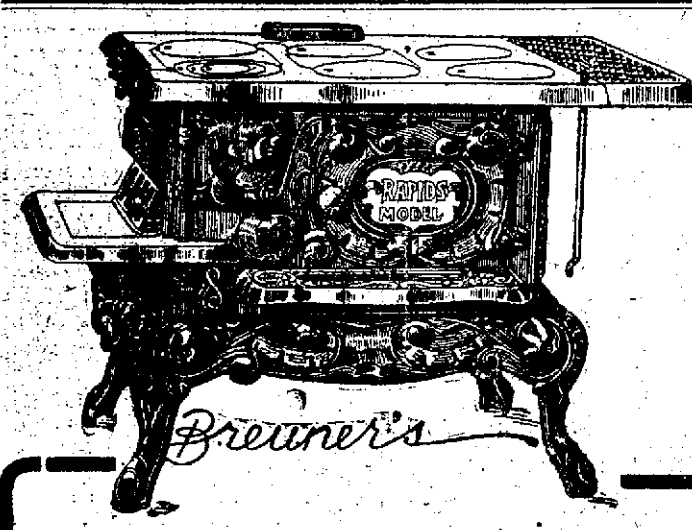

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep." Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

Some Glass Ruins Eyes

There are many qualities of spectacle glass. There is glass that absorbs light;
there is glass that turns back the rays; there is glass that reflects annoyingly and strains the eyes.

Many people fail to obtain the bright, clear vision that is due them simply because poor quality glass has been used. It does not let all the light through.

Safety in the matter lies in dealing with Chinn-Beretta. It is the largest optical house in the West.
It has many factories and many fine stores. Its goods are, and always have been,
of fine quality. Its prices are reasonable and are the same to every one.

Chinn-Beretta specialties are household words. Chinn-
Beretta make the KRYPT-
TOK, a far-and-near glass without conspicuous cross-lines and without pieces pasted on. Chinn-Beretta sell the RETFO, an eyeglass mounting that will stay on nearly every nose.
